Church Speaks On Mediterranean Situation

H. W. Church, K.C. of Lethbridge, was guest speaker at Rotary last Monday, and gave a very interesting talk on the situation at present existing in the Mediterranean sea. He took this particular phase of international affairs for his topic, as the lack of time prevented any larger topic.

Going back to the time of the Roman empire he told of Rome's domination of this part of the world, and of the dream Premier Mussolini had kindled in the hearts of the Italian people of another world domination by Italy, through control of this very important and strategic body of water, which with the Suez controls the ingress and egress of traffic and travel from the countries bordering on it. At present, through her control of the Straits of Gibraltar, which she had controlled for over 400 years, and her domination of the Suez canal at the other end of the Mediterranean, she says who shall pass and who shall not pass. Italy rather mandates a portion in the middle of the sea, but it is of little benefit to her as long as Britain keeps the two ends under her control. Despite repeated statements respecting the strength of the Italian fleet, no combat had been sought by the Italian navy and in all the skirmishes that had taken place it was a hit and run fight, the British hit and the Italians ran.

It was the speaker's opinion that England would, at all cost maintain her control of this important body of water and the Suez canal, and that Italy's present efforts to gain territory in Africa would meet defeat, because as long as she controlled the waterways adjacent to Africa, she largely controlled Africa as well.

WALCH FAREWELL

A large crowd of friends and neighbors gathered at the Jefferson school Monday evening to bid farewell to Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Walch and family. A program was given with Mrs. W. J. Roberts as chairman and consisted of community singing; 1. by Heber Sheffield, duet by May and Hazel West, guitar and mouth organ solo by Jim Furgerson, duet by June and Marie Hansen; piano solo by Gwyneth Roberts, saxophone solo by Lester Campbell. Mr. Sam West spoke briefly on behalf of the Red Cross and other community organizations and thanked the family for their active participation in them. Mr. H. T. Sheffield expressed the regret of the community that the family had to leave and presented them with a beautiful gift.

Mr. Walch had been employed in Jefferson by the UCC elevator company for the past six years. He has been transferred to Raymond and will leave with his family Thursday.

They have been very active in community organizations and will be greatly missed.—Cardston News.

BEE HIVE AND GLEANERS NOW IN CAMP

The Bee Hive and Gleaner Girls of the three Canadian stakes went into camp at Camp Inuspi in Waterton on Wednesday of this week, and those in charge expected to have at least 80 girls and leaders for the week's outing. Organized amongst the three Canadian Stakes, the following leaders were chosen:

Camp Mother—Mrs. Caroline Pitcher, Pres. of Y.W.M.I.A. of Lethbridge Stake.

Activity Leader—Rojana Jacobs, Cardston.

Drama Leader—Norma Smith Cardston.

Camp Nurse—Mrs. M.W. Boyson, Raymond.

Camp Craft—Eileen Palmer Barnwell.

Handicraft—Mrs. Athea Peterson, Welling.

Naturalist—Mrs. Rosanna Greene, Glenwood.

Dancing and Sports—Camille Palmer, Lethbridge.

Kamp Kapers—Ruth Russell, Lethbridge.

Librarian—Hilda Russell, Lethbridge.

Bee-Keeper—Jean Nelson, Cardston.

Editor of "Buzzola"—Mrs. Alice C. Powelson, Raymond.

Sunday is visitors day and the camp expects a visit from the following Raymond people: Stake Pres. T. Geo. Wood, Mrs. A.J. Walton and Mrs. J.H. Walker of the Stake Y.W.M.I.A. Presidency, Mrs. Jos. Woolley, as well as a number of the parents of the girls. As this is the Silver Jubilee year of this particular phase of Mutual work, the camp is confidently expected to be the best ever held.

Archie Terry is in Medicine Hat where he has carpenter work on the buildings in connection with the air training school being established there.

Age bins throughout Western Canada. This announcement was made this week by The Northwest Line Elevators Association. The bins will have a capacity ranging from 20,000 to 40,000 bushels each. Total capacity will exceed 15,000,000 bushels.

A delegation representing the Line Elevators Association has just returned from Ottawa. While at the capital they discussed grain matters with the Minister of Trade and Commerce. Assurance was given the Government that the Line Elevator Companies would do everything in their power to assist in meeting wheat problems of Canada which have been accentuated by the War. The building of temporary storage bins in the country was one of the proposals of the Association. This will aid the farmers in marketing substantial additional quantities of grain.

There are 5,672 country elevators in Western Canada with a storage capacity of 189,422,000 bushels. The average capacity of these elevators is 35,000 bushels. Total capacity of all terminal and country elevators in Canada is 422,824,220 bushels.

The Government Lumber Controller is co-operating with the Elevator companies in moving forward lumber to country points for the erection of the temporary bins. Approximately 15,000,000 feet of lumber will be required for the construction of the bins, in addition to many tons of tie rods, nails and roofing materials.

Norris Smith Is Laid To Rest

Funeral services over the remains of Norris, seven year old son of Mr. and Mrs. S.B. Smith, were held in the 2nd Ward church Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m. with Bishop Jas. H. Walker in charge. The singing was under the direction of Jos. McLean, with Mrs. Paul Dahl at the console.

The opening song was "Oh My Father" followed by prayer by Elder Chas. B. Strong. The Choir then sang "Your Sweet Little Rosebud Has Left You," with Mrs. Scott Salmon singing the solo.

Elder Jas. R. Skipworth of Hily Spring, an acquaintance of the boy's father before his marriage and a close friend of the family ever since emigrating to Canada was the first speaker and spoke of the conversion of the boy's parents to the gospel and their humility and faith following their acceptance of it. He was sure they would receive the consolation they need in their hour of sadness.

Jos. McLean sang "Danny Boy."

Elder J. W. Evans said he had visited the home just after the accident and had found a fine spirit of faith and submission to the Divine will there. Death visits the home of all, and the change is a glorious one if we could only understand it. He felt this boy was possibly called as a missionary to the families of his father and mother in the spirit world. "Crossing the Bar" was sung by the Male quartette of Frank R. Taylor and Co.

Elder Jas. S. Anderson expressed some very consoling thoughts with respect to the status of children in the spirit world, and stated that when the spirit left the body of a child it was full grown and able to take up the work of a fully developed person. He related some personal experiences with respect to the sickness and death of two of the children of his brother John.

Bishop Walker was the concluding speaker and thanked all who had assisted in any way in the sad accident and expressed the thanks of the Bishopric for the willingness and ability of the Smith family and the fine example the children gave to others in their attendance and attention in Sacrament meetings.

Four brothers of the deceased: Sidney, Franklin, Thurston and Alma acted as pall bearers and the lovely, small casket and the rostrum were literally buried in flowers, especially home-grown ones.

The closing hymn was "I Need Thee Every Hour" and the benediction was pronounced by Elder W. A. Heninger.

A large cortege followed the remains to the cemetery where the grave was dedicated by Elder L. L. Palmer of the Bishopric.

NEWS NOTES

Before long holidays will be over and the children back in school. Oh me.

Hyrum Fromm was in Magrath Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

C.R. Wing, Plant Superintendent of Canadian Sugar Factories, Ltd., was a business visitor in Picture Butte on Monday of this week.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank Hall and children left Sunday for their vacation, spending a portion of their time in Waterton National Park.

A terrific wind storm lashed Calgary Friday night last, seven doors were blown off their hinges, trees uprooted and the air filled with dust and dirt for a few minutes.

Mrs. W. E. Reed of Lacombe, and Miss Verda Jamison, of Edmonton, motored down last week, and are the guests of their mother Mrs. O. Jamison. The young ladies plan on visiting here for two weeks.

Farmers are studying now the cheapest method of bins for storing their grain. The five bushel per acre plan is not much of a consolation to a farmer on irrigated land who has land and water tax and a yield of 20 to 35 bushels per acre as compared with 12 to 20 on dry land farms.

Harvesting is the order of the day now. Combining of winter wheat is being pushed and awthers and binders are busy in many fields of spring wheat. No very definite estimate of yields can be given so early. W.H. Zobel combined two fields of winter wheat getting 20 bushels per acre on one and 35 on the other.

Mr. and Mrs. D.V. Gilmore returned Sunday evening from their vacation trip, and Mr. Gilmore was at work again Monday in the bank.

Mr. and Mrs. Nephi Anderson and family of Burbank, Cal., were Raymond visitors over the week-end with relatives. They left again Monday morning.

Franklin and Sidney Smith Jr., who are attending the aero plane mechanics school in Lethbridge were home on Sunday for the funeral of their brother Norris.

George Brewerton, accompanied by Misses Iris Jones and Sara King have been away this week on a business and pleasure trip which took them to Winnipeg, Manitoba. They are expected home Sunday or Monday.

The Raymond 1st Ward Outing was held at Fort Whoop yesterday afternoon. A good representation of the ward was present despite the busy season and a nice time was enjoyed by all. We hope to have a full report on it for next week.

Australia suffered a staggering blow Monday when three cabinet ministers, the chief of the general staff, and six others including the crew of the plane were killed as the plane was preparing to land near the Canberra airport.

The family and grandchildren of J.W. Evans honored him Thursday night at the Bob Graham farm on the occasion of his 65th birthday. A weiner bust, with new corn, and an evening of fun and merriment made a most pleasant time. We extend our congratulations to "J.W." on his anniversary.

WEDDING BELLS

TIFFEN — HAWK

The wedding was solemnized Saturday at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hawk of Raymond, of Ina Hawk, recently of Taber, and Mr. Stanley Tiffen son of Mr. and Mrs. J.J. Tiffen, old timers of the Lethbridge district. Bishop James H. Walker, M.L.A., officiated. The bride was charming in an afternoon frock of royal blue with white accessories and carried sweet-heart roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's home attended by members of the families of the contracting parties.

Attending the bride was her sister, Miss Eva Hawk, and the groom, his brother, Mr. Ronald Tiffen.

Following a honeymoon at Banff and Jasper parks the young couple will take up their residence in Lethbridge.

PETERSON — HENINGER

A wedding of interest was held on Friday, Aug. 2, in the chapel of the new first ward church when Mirra, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E.S. Heninger of Raymond, became the bride of Eldon McBride Peterson, sergeant instructor with the R.C.A.F. in Vancouver, and third son of Mr. and Mrs. N.W. Peterson of Welling.

Elder Z.W. Jacobs of Cardston uncle of the bride officiated.

The chapel was beautifully decorated with bouquets of summer flowers, the altar being banked with gladioli, tiger lilies and fern, and the windows and organ held bouquets of nasturtiums. The guest seats were marked with white satin ribbon and white shasta daisies.

The bridesmaids were Miss Lavau Meeks, Miss Alice Snow and Miss Gladys Peterson of Magrath.

Melvin Depew supported the groom, Roy Peterson, brother of the groom, Edward Gunning and Maurice Heninger were ushers.

The music was supplied by Mrs. Alfred Ririe and daughters Virginia and Marjorie, with a vocal solo by Miss Jeanne Ririe.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, with immediate relatives and friends in attendance.

The bridal couple left immediately for Vancouver via T.C.A. where they will make their home.

We join with the numerous friends of these two young couples in wishes for success and a long and happy married life.

WILL EUROPE STARVE

Reports of Europe's food situation this winter have been sharply conflicting. The American Ambassador to Belgium, John Cudahy, says that Belgium will be close to famine this fall. The U.S. Department of Agriculture says that Europe's food supply this winter is only about 20 percent less than it was last winter. Hugh Dalton, Britain's Minister of Economic Warfare, says that Europe has enough to go round.

Mr. Dalton's report is illuminating. He says, in effect, that Europe has enough food to maintain life. But he adds that the poor or uneven distribution may easily bring hunger in some parts.

On Aug. 13th the Golden Fleece Woollen Mills Ltd. celebrated their first anniversary by having a delightful picnic at the St. Mary's River. Thirty six mill employees were present. The sports were conducted by Melba Tanner, Kenneth Loudon and Jim Tripp. In water polo, honors went to Marjorie Harker's team with Dale Toomer scoring the winning goals. All day suckers were awarded Kenneth Loudon's team, winner of the softball game. Skill was also shown in horse shoe as Mayor Tanner and Clarence Halvorson copped high scores. A combined corn bust and weiner roast topped with watermelon was served by Thelma Turner, Kenneth Loudon and Connell Watson. The day was brought to a successful close by toasting marshmallows around the campfire to a jolly sing-song, ending with the national anthem.

FUNERAL SERVICES OF CHAS. QUACKBURNER

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Alfred, Miss Alice Snow and B.J. Coombs journeyed to Medicine Hat Tuesday afternoon, where they participated in the funeral services of Chas. Quackburner, aged 48, brother-in-law of Phil Baker, who passed away there the end of the week. They returned home that night.

Mr. and Mrs. T. K. Roberts who happened to be in Medicine Hat that afternoon attended the services held in Patterson's Funeral Home and Tommy and Bert sang several numbers, while Elders Alfred and Coombs spoke to a very interested audience.

Mrs. Quackburner was formerly Miss Ethel Stevens, and was well known in Raymond. We extend our sympathy to she and her family in their loss. Mr. Quackburner was 48 years old.

Christensen's and Glen Tollstrup are all working at the Medicine Hat airport with their trucks.

Milt Moffatt member of the Rotary Club of Lethbridge and H.W. Church, K.C. of Lethbridge were dinner guests with the Raymond Rotarians on Monday last.

Someone will have to go without. But if the available food is shared evenly over the continent, there should be no undue hardship. In brief, the power to feed or starve Europe lies in German hands.

Under these circumstances, there seems no just reason for any outcry against Britain's blockade. Neither is there any particular reason for shipment to Europe of American foodstuffs. Such foodstuffs are urgently needed. And even if they are, what assurance can be offered that they will not, directly or indirectly, assist the German war machine.

It is conceivable that the British blockade may cause some measure of suffering in Europe this winter. But even if this should prove to be the case, which is preferably for Europe, temporary hardships caused by the fight against Germany, or the hopeless and unending starvation which a German victory would mean? —Calgary Herald

HELP ALL YOU CAN

National registration commences next Monday. It should be a matter of pride to every citizen of Raymond and district to see that our registration is 100% and is also 100% correct. This is not only possible, but quite feasible if all would co-operate and prepare before hand.

Several suggestions could be made that would help greatly when you come to the registration table. Secure a copy of the questions that must be answered and study them. If there are any you cannot answer, obtain the information, and have it correct. It has been suggested and would certainly prove a great time saver, if copies of the questionnaire could be filled in, and handed to the deputy registrar for him to make a transcript from it; then all you would have to do is to sign on the dotted line and you will be ready to leave with your card. We will have a problem here, that will not be encountered in many districts. We have residents from a great many nations.

Many of these people find it difficult to speak English plainly and fluently, and, if these people, with the assistance of some of their countrymen who can speak English, could fill out these forms and present them to the registrars, not only time but embarrassment could be saved on both sides. All should bear in mind these facts: the questions must all be answered, and it is very important that they be answered correctly. The penalty for false information on the forms is just as great as the penalty for non-registration.

However, no loyal Britisher should think of penalty, false information, or anything except the filling in of these forms correctly and completely. We are at war. To date, we have felt little if any pinch of war. We have enjoyed all the pleasures and conveniences that our station in life afford, while someone else has been fighting to grant us protection. What is ahead none can tell, but surely the least that any of us can do is to register gladly, fully and completely, and if, from the information given, the Government wants us in some field other than where we are at present working, we should be glad of this opportunity to render greater and more beneficial service to our country and the Empire in its time of need.

Again, may we say: Acquaint yourself with the registration form. Get the answer to all the

Feeding Grain to Cows on Pasture

The question often arises as to whether it pays to feed concentrates to milking cows while on pasture. Doubtless this will depend to some extent on the type of pasture, the milk yield and the relative value of concentrates for milk or its products.

In order to obtain some information on this problem, a trial was conducted at this Station during the summer of 1937. The three summer months were chosen because this is the period when the milking cows of this Station receive no other roughage than pasture.

Two groups of animals were selected from the milking herd and were made as similar as possible with respect to the average daily yield of milk, length of time since freshening, date due to calve, and body weight of the individuals.

The individuals in Group 1 were given access to good pasture, and received concentrates at the rate of one pound of meal to approximately each four pounds of milk produced. The meal mixture consisted of 300 pounds of ground barley, 300 pounds of ground oats, 100 lbs. of wheat bran, 7 pounds of monocalcium phosphate and 7 lbs. of iodized salt.

The individuals in Group 2 were given access to similar pasture to Group 1 but received no concentrates during the period of the trial. A record was kept of the milk produced by

It would be a great help on registration day if individuals would bring a copy of the questions with their answers. Those assisting at the registration tables could transcribe these answers a great deal faster than to have to ask all of the questions.

each group. Similar trials were conducted during both 1938 and 1939 and the results of these three trials are summarized below:

Group 1	Group 2
Receiving pasture	Receiving pasture
and Concentrates	only
34.5 lb.	33.8 lb.
37.0 lb.	30.4 lb.
28.2 lb.	32.1 lb.
33.0 lb.	32.5 lb.

These results indicate that there was comparatively little difference in the average daily yield of the individuals in the respective groups. In other words, the feeding of concentrates while the cows were on good pasture and producing approximately 30 pounds of milk per day, did not have any significant influence on the milk yield.

On the basis of the results of these trials, it would not appear to be an economical proposition to feed concentrates to cows which are producing 35 pounds or less of milk per day provided that they have access to sufficient suitable pasture. However, there are two facts that should be borne in mind:

(1) Cows producing large amounts of milk may not be able to secure sufficient nutrients from pasture alone and it will then be necessary to supplement the pasture with suitable concentrates.

(2) Cows will not produce on poor pasture alone.

REGISTRATION STARTS ON MONDAY August 19th

Commencing Monday, August 19th, Canada calls on her citizens, 16 years of age and over, regardless of nationality, to register. Because of the magnitude of this task the Government asks those who must register to study the questionnaire carefully.

Every question must be answered truthfully and without evasion. It is imperative that every one 16 years of age and over register. You will make the whole task easier for yourself and the Government by registering early. Registration will last for three days only.

REGISTRATION DATES August 19th, 20th, 21st

EVERYONE CAN HELP—To keep the cost of this registration at a minimum the Government is asking the co-operation of all public-minded citizens in the work of registration. You can help by getting in touch with your local registration officials and offering your services.

WHERE TO REGISTER

Registration offices are being set up by electoral districts in the same manner as in the last Dominion election.

Registrars are required to register in the regular polling subdivisions of their own constituencies. But should a registrant be in some other province or district out of the regular polling subdivision on Registration Days, he or she may register at any registration office convenient, upon satisfactory explanation to the local deputy registrar.

Penalty for Non-Registration—Failure to register will make any male or female, married or single, over the age of 16 years, liable to a fine not exceeding Two hundred dollars, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding Three months, or to both such fine and imprisonment, and moreover to a further penalty not exceeding Ten dollars for each day, after the day upon which he should have registered, during which he shall continue to be unregistered.

Your Registration Certificate

To every person answering the questionnaire fully and satisfactorily a certificate of registration will be issued by the local deputy registrar. This is a small card which must be carried on the person at all times.

HEARTS WALKING

Mrs. Harry Pugh Smith

CHAPTER XXX

Anne had asked Cathy and Danny to supper that night. Anne also insisted that Benrice and Bill come back to the flat too.

Bill bent anxiously over Benrice. "Tired, sweet?" he asked tenderly.

Benrice laid her cheek against his hand. "A little."

"Run on, you two," said Anne with a smile. "I shan't be alone Steve Hill is coming."

The doorbell rang and Janet, coloring painfully, started to her feet. "There's Tony," she exclaimed and added hurriedly. "I'll be seeing you."

She did not ask Tony in. She merely nodded and turned to ward the stair. Neither of them spoke until they were in the car.

"I hear you had a flat this afternoon," he drawled.

That Priscilla had supplied him with a lurid account of the incident. Janet did not doubt, but neither his tone nor his expression betrayed what he was thinking.

She stared at him defiantly. "Yes," she said. "I did."

"Too bad," murmured Tony and let it go at that.

Most of their crowd were having dinner at the club prior to the dance. They had arranged to sit together at one long table. Having retired to the dressing room to remove her short evening cape, Janet came upon Norma Poole in the process of powdering her nose. Apparently Priscilla had spread her story broadcast. At least Norma had heard a highly spiced version of the affair.

"Whatever possessed you Janet?" she demanded. "You're too splendid to be left in the lurch a second time."

Janet murmured something unintelligible and fled. Her cheeks were scarlet and it did not improve her state of mind when she walked into the lounge and confronted Priscilla in the act of caressing a small red rosebud in the lapel of Tony's coat.

"So sorry," said Janet. "Did not mean to intrude."

She fled for the second time, walked blindly out upon the screened veranda which ran across the side of the clubhouse. The sun had set in a riot of violet colors. Janet advanced unsteadily to the end of the porch. Not until she bumped into him did she realize that she had cornered Gordon.

"Yes," she said sadly. "it would be you. Life's like that."

"You aren't in love with Tony Ryan, are you, Janet?"

Janet could feel her heart flinch. "Certainly I'm not in love with Tony Ryan," she cried. "Love's something we've never discussed."

Gordon made a distracted little gesture, and Janet turned abruptly. Tony stood at her elbow, his lips parted in a lazy grin.

"So sorry," he murmured, imitating the tone which Janet had employed upon him a short while before. "Don't mean to intrude but everybody's going in to dinner and," he gave Gordon a glance that made him squirm. "I've a yen to be with my fiancée. I'm funny that way."

Priscilla had managed to seat herself beside him. She completely ignored Gordon who was her escort and monopolized Tony.

The orchestra had not arrived somebody turned on the radio. Priscilla wriggled her shoulders and snapped her fingers. "That music's too smooth to waste," she announced. "How's for dancing, Tony?"

She held out her arms. Tony did not appear to notice. "Want to dance, Janet?" he asked. He did dance beautifully. Janet had never denied him that compliment. You felt safe in his arms, she thought. She sighed and glanced up into his face to find him smiling down at her.

A thrill began at Janet's head and went to her toes as if she were a harp on which a hand was playing an intoxicating refrain. It was like being snatched back from some strange delightful new country when the music ended.

Priscilla skated across the floor. "Tony, show me how to do the rumba. You promised."

She stood it for two dances and then she knew she could not watch Priscilla's determined pursuit of Tony another minute. Bitting her lips Janet made for the wide open spaces.

There was no moon. The swimming pool was edged with a concrete walk, not very wide.

Janet set her teeth and marched around and around it, trying to bring some order out of the chaos of her thoughts.

Her eyes were stormy with tears. She neither then nor later saw the wet bathing suit which had been left on the edge of the pool. Something wet and clammy wrapped itself about her ankle. She thought of snakes, screamed wildly, missed her footing and plunged straight toward the water.

"Janet!"

A hand closed about her wrist and jerked her back to the concrete walk. Still of balance Janet clutched frantically at her rescuer. His arms went about her and clung.

"Janet, darling!" cried Gordon. He was trembling. "You can't have got over loving me, Janet! Please say you haven't Gordon, swept out of himself at last, was kissing her with an abandon which Janet found peculiarly revolting."

"If you have no objections, Key," murmured a cool self-contained voice behind them. "I'll do all the kissing my fiancée requires."

Gordon with a violent start dropped his arms. "Janet was mine before we ever heard of you, you big stiff!" he snarled.

Tony turned and looked at him. "Seat" he remarked pleasantly.

Gordon hesitated, eyed the set of Tony's jaw and then suddenly and ignominiously scented. Tony looked at Janet. There was a gleam in his blue eyes which terrified her.

"As you reminded me, I have not made love to you," he said. "This to correct the oversight." He swept her into his arms. He held her as if she were a small helpless kitten. He kissed her not once, but three times as thoroughly as he did everything else, and Janet realized that she knew nothing in the world about being kissed.

PROBLEMS OF EVERY-DAY LIFE

(By Dr. Maitland Lappin)
I have an interesting letter from a young lady who signs herself Madge. It raises a problem which, perhaps, other young ladies are confronted, so I shall make it the subject of discussion.

Madge writes: "In three years of courtship I have never received as much as a present from my young man. We became engaged more than a year ago, but he has not even given me a ring. He is working and makes good money. I don't think he is mean. In fact, I know he isn't. He says he is saving everything for our marriage, but he is putting me in a queer position for some of my friends are teasing me awfully about it. Do you think I should speak to him about it?"

Your young man certainly is placing you awkwardly with your friends, Madge, and you will have to do something about it. His conduct is most unusual. The average young man is inclined to show his affection in the bestowal of gifts, even if these gifts are small. Your boy friend may or may not be mean, but he is certainly missing a great deal himself and exposing you to the banter of your friends. Not the kindest thing for him to do.

I think you should have a frank heart-to-heart talk with him on the matter. He is adopting an entirely wrong mental attitude, and his keenness on saving every cent possible against your expected marriage may be but an indication that he is just a little over-careful where money is concerned. It is good to be thrifty, but when thriftiness is carried to the extreme it tends to become meanness. You should satisfy yourself on this point, for if it is a case of meanness with this young man, and you marry him, your prospects for a happy married life are not very bright.

Whatever else you do, you must not allow this to get under your skin and embitter you. Just tell your boy friend plainly that you are disappointed, that every engaged girl has a ring given her in token of the engagement, and that his depriving you of the thrill other engaged girls get by showing their rings to their friends. Do not be nasty, and avoid giving the impression that you are trying to pick a quarrel. At the same time let him know how you feel about it. Talk to him in a sensible, straightforward fashion and try to get him to see things from your point of view.

I believe if you do this he will come to see that you are right. If, however, he shows resentment or thinks you are unreasonable, then you should seriously consider whether you are justified in continuing the engagement. Write to me again and let me know what happens.

WOMEN and REGISTRATION

War has always made a heavy demand on the services of the womanhood of the nation.

Totalitarian war makes a still greater demand. Modern war involves far more than the real fighting forces — it goes beyond the lines. It involves home defence. It calls for strengthening of the moral and spiritual force of the nation, and also an increase not only in the production of war materials but an increase in general production as well.

We not only have to produce more so far as war materials are concerned, but we must produce products for export because it is necessary that many war materials must be purchased abroad, and the nation must accumulate the foreign exchange necessary for these purchases.

In war conditions the strength of the army in the field must be maintained, but the strength of MEET 95% OF HAULING NEEDS!

Have a "Show-Down" of Dodge with any other Truck before you Invest your Money!

95% of all haulage needs are met by this new 1940 line of Dodge Trucks. Capacities range from 1 1/2-ton to 3-ton heavy duty Diesel models. Horsepower, torque and gross loadings have been increased throughout the line.

Dodge-built Cab-over-engine models are now available in the 1 1/2 and 2-ton series. Dodge engineers have developed a Cab-over-engine that is easy to get into, easy to get out of on the curb side and one in which steering and gear shifting are the same as in a conventional cab.

"Sealed Beam" headlamps give 50% greater illumination. New springs have slower rate of deflection and give an improved ride. New 2-speed axles have a one-piece housing and are greatly strengthened.

Time-tested Dodge Truck features retained for 1940 are: Dodge Equal-Pressure Hydraulic Brakes, L-head Engine, Full-length water jackets, aluminum alloy pistons with four rings, Amolite steel in vital parts and dozens of other famous advantages that mean Dodge Dependability, Long Life and Low Operating Costs.

Consult us regarding your hauling requirements.

It has been reported that Italy has developed a method for making wool from milk.

The 2nd Ward Seventies gave their beet patch its second hoeing Monday night and Tuesday morning. About three-fourths of the five acre patch was hoed. This is a pretty fair patch of beets this year.

The implication is obvious. Europe is under Nazi domination. If the German people get an unfair share of the food available on the continent, then

FARMERS ADVISED NOT TO HARVEST IMMATURE GRAIN

The following announcement has been issued by Hon. D. B. Mullen, Minister of Agriculture for Alberta:

"If favorable climatic conditions continue, Alberta will harvest one of the largest grain crops in the history of the Province. Due to the limited elevator facilities, storage space will be at a premium.

"In order to utilize to best advantage the limited available storage space, I would urge farmers to allow their grain to ripen and have it threshed in a condition fit for storage. In past years it has been possible to place grain carrying a high percentage of moisture in elevators where it is processed to reduce moisture content, thus avoiding deterioration. With the shortage of elevator storage space now in prospect, both in country and terminal elevators, it will be impossible to obtain the space necessary to process tough or damp grain. I would therefore urge that farmers protect themselves against financial loss, and assist in conserving storage space by delaying their cutting until their crops are thoroughly ripened. Care should be taken that all grain be threshed in such a manner as to free it of all green weed seeds which may cause bin burning and result in loss of grade.

"Where grain is threshed damp or tough it should be stored upon the farm until it is in a satisfactory marketing condition. Further, if grain contains a large amount of green weed seeds, it should be threshed in such a manner as to avoid the weeds being delivered with the grain. If grain contains such weeds seeds it should be re-cleaned to avoid loss when marketed.

L.L. Palmer enjoyed a flying visit Monday from an old Missionary companion, Elder Clarence E. Shank of Salt Lake city, Utah, accompanied by his wife, father and a brother. Elders Shank and Palmer had not met since 1918 when they were separated in the mission field after travelling from Salt Lake together and laboring for some months in the same part of the mission field.

On Monday, the Ford coach of Harold King which figured in the accident on the Cardston Waterton road in which Shirley King and Wallace Wilde were injured, was brought into town. After a look at this car, and Shirley telling us that the Hudson of Wally Wilde's looked worse than the Ford, we wondered how any of the occupants escaped alive. They must have had a rabbit's foot with all of them.
